

Terms of Use

St. Catherine's Monastery of the Sinai, Egypt, is pleased to make images of palimpsest manuscripts in its library accessible for online study. The Monastery asks that users accessing images of its palimpsests agree to the following terms and conditions:*

FOR RESEARCHERS

1. Researchers are invited to study the images online.

Images may not be downloaded for publication or redistribution without the prior written permission of St. Catherine's Monastery of the Sinai. (See FOR PUBLICATIONS below, §1.)

2. Researchers who access the images online are free to publish their findings and quote from the palimpsests in scholarly or other publications, whether electronic or in print. (For guidance on how to reference cited material, see FOR PUBLICATIONS below, §2.)

However, any researcher planning to publish an edition (including a transcription, translation, or comprehensive scholarly analysis) of a manuscript or one of the texts it contains is asked to consult first with St. Catherine's Monastery. (See FOR PUBLICATIONS below, §1.)

FOR PUBLICATIONS

1. Inquiries to St. Catherine's Monastery about permission to reproduce or publish an image or approval to publish an edition should be sent to: sinai@library.ucla.edu. (For further notes on PREPARING EDITIONS, see "Citing Contributors.")
2. References in publications to the online images and descriptions of the palimpsests should be accompanied by the following credit line: "sinai.library.ucla.edu, a publication of St. Catherine's Monastery of the Sinai in collaboration with EMEL and UCLA." (To specify sources of particular descriptions or images, see CITATION AIDS below.)
3. St. Catherine's Monastery may, at its discretion, require that an additional credit line or caption be added to published images, as part of its permission for publication.
4. We request that electronic copies of publications based on images presented on this site be sent to the following email address: sinai@library.ucla.edu
In the event that electronic copies of publications are not available, please send one printed copy to:

Saint Catherine's Monastery of the Sinai
26 Doryleou, Ampelokipi, Athens 11521, Greece

*The terms and conditions on this page rehearse the user agreement from Sinai-ID Registration. Violation of these terms and conditions may result in the suspension of your user account and notification to the Monastery of the violation.

Users are invited to review the Privacy Policy associated with their login. Registration data is managed by the Early Manuscripts Electronic Library (EMEL). If you ever wish to delete your user account, email a request to sinai.id.emel@gmail.com, and EMEL will remove your account data from its database.

CITATION AIDS

To reference specific manuscripts, see “Manuscript Shelfmarks.”

For palimpsest descriptions

In addition to the general credit line identified above (FOR PUBLICATIONS, §2), please also credit the individual scholar or scholars whose surnames are attached to specific descriptions on the Research Site.

Examples:

For the general description of an undertext (content, date, script characterization):

M. P. Brown, D. Ganz, D. Mairhofer, “Sinai Arabic NF 8, History of Apollonius of Tyre (Latin),” sinai.library.ucla.edu, a publication of St. Catherine’s Monastery of the Sinai in collaboration with EMEL and UCLA, accessed on [dd/mm/yy].

For reference to the description of a particular folio:

M. P. Brown, D. Ganz, D. Mairhofer, “Sinai Arabic NF 8, History of Apollonius of Tyre (Latin), fol. 18r,” sinai.library.ucla.edu, a publication of St. Catherine’s Monastery of the Sinai in collaboration with EMEL and UCLA, accessed on [dd/mm/yy].

See “Citing Contributors” for an alphabetized list of PARTICIPATING SCHOLARS with full names, institutional affiliations, and language expertise.

For images

As noted above, St. Catherine’s Monastery may, at its discretion, require that an additional credit line or caption be added, as part of its permission for publication.

The initials of the imaging scientists who worked on the Sinai Palimpsests Project typically appear in the filenames of the processed images they produced. For their full names and affiliations, see “Citing Contributors” under PROJECT PERSONNEL: Imaging Scientists.

For information about how to choose between different types of processed images, see “Which Images Should I Use?”